

Basic Mediation Training Transformative Style

With Judith Rubenstein

Thursday through Sunday
November 4 - 7
9:00am - 5:00pm
Santa Barbara, CA

30 Hours (4 days)
meets Basic Training requirements for:
volunteering as a Community Mediator
and California Superior Court Mediation panels

Learn fundamental principles and techniques of collaborative negotiation and transformative mediation, in a highly interactive and experiential setting, with unique hands-on supervision by mediation experts.

Appropriate for: personnel directors, managers, supervisors, parents, attorneys, MFT's, teachers, social service providers, and anyone wanting to be a better negotiator. Also for practicing mediators who wish to learn transformative techniques.

Learn:

- Your conflict resolution style
- The transformative mediation framework
- How to listen for interests
- The importance of "reframing"
- Stages of mediation
- Models of mediation
- How to create a neutral, safe environment for parties
- How to help parties find common ground and reach agreements
- How to act neutral when you don't feel neutral
- Facilitation of the negotiation process
- How to reach closure and write agreements

Fee: $1,575 including workbook and certificate.

Special fee for non-profit agency staff and prospective volunteers: $500

Trainers

Judith Rubenstein, lead trainer, and co-director of Conflict Management Institute, is one of the most experienced mediators and mediation trainers in the United States. She has trained thousands of mediators since 1985, including numerous trainings abroad. Judith has received advanced training in Transformative Mediation from Bush and Folger, and was selected as one of the nationwide trainers for the United States Postal Service's REDRESS Mediation Program.

Jeanie Class, assistant trainer, is a staff mediator at Conflict Solutions Center/Community Mediation and coordinates the Small Claims Mediation program. She co-founded Community Mediation of SB County in 1989, and has been a mediator for 20 years.

For more information contact Jeanie at 805-729-2825 or look online at www.mediate.com/rubenstein.

Advance registration is required, as space is limited